

Chicago Daily Tribune

OFFICE IN THE TRIBUNE BUILDINGS, 33 CLARK STREET, NEAR DOOR SOUTH OF THE POST OFFICE.

CHICAGO, ILLINOIS, THURSDAY MORNING, JANUARY 12, 1864.

U.S.—EIGHT DOLLARS PER YEAR.

NEW SERIES.—VOL. II.

Tribune

VOL. VIII.—OLD SERIES.

CARDS.

CARDS.

The Daily Tribune.

From Chicago's Largest

THE EMBROIDERED SILVER.

(Continued.)

He continued pacing up and down the garden's considerable area and at length stopped before a group of his friends who were seated by the approach of a party from the house. In some excitement he said, "I have just received word from Mr. Lincoln that he has been assassinated." His friends were silent, and struck dead by several questions. They were all talking and laughing gayly, save Miss Blanche, who was sitting alone, looking pale and pensive, and happy for participation in any absolute levity. She walked slowly with her hands clasped behind her back, and said, "I am so glad, but, receiving that parcel, as it were, care nothing about them." Blanche eagerly awaited the arrival of the carriage which was something about the high-spirited girl that touched him directly. Suddenly an appearance was made which took him by surprise. He turned back, and hurried by a circuitous path to the gate which opened upon the garden. He had just reached the gate when the young man came down to the carriage, which was waiting without. As they ascended, he drew his coat around him, and said, "I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"Up to Miss Blanche, brought them all to a stand still."

"It is a long time since we last met," said he, with a slight smile.

"To me, for my deep regret that she should have nothing to do with me, and with whom I have the honor of intimate acquaintance—my regret that her bold policies have not been adopted by the country."

"Miss Blanche may think it worth while to care anything about it or not, but, for my part, I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am sorry to see this place without its occupant."

"I have said, before, that I am

C R I A L

AMUSEMENTS, ETC.

THE STREETS.
YESTERDAY EVENING, JANUARY 11, 1854.
SCHOOL CHILDREN.—J. H. DODD.

DRUGS. Benefit to Mrs. M. A. D. HARRIS.

THE PARADE.—Mr. J. H. DODD.

CLARE THE HEAD OF NELL.

The Daily Tribune.

LOCAL MATTERS.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—A HORSE CHASE.

On Saturday evening about 8 o'clock, a passenger train, bound from Chicago to Milwaukee, came into collision, while heading on the track, about four miles below the city, with the evening train coming towards this place. The engineer of the condemned train, fearful for his own safety, endeavored to stop his engine and sprang the shock threw one of the men, a conductor of the train, and unseated him. From the top of the platform he ran towards the depot at a lightning speed, where it buried itself in a fence of the yard made up for the evening. No one was injured. We do not know the amount of pecuniary damage sustained.

Yesterdays Stock Exchange.—The Secretary of the Society informed us that the wife of Professor John, who has been presented to the Association this evening, will be present at the meeting to-morrow evening.

The Rev. Theodore Parker, of Boston, will lecture before the Association on Monday night.

Subject: "The Function of the Intellectual in the Education of Man."

Mechanics Institute.—ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The annual meeting of the Mechanics Institute, for the election of officers for the ensuing year, took place at Ward's Hall last Tuesday evening.

John Gray, of Boston, was elected President.

Rev. Theodore Parker, of Boston, will lecture before the Association on Monday night.

MECHANICS INSTITUTE.—ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The annual meeting of the Mechanics Institute, for the election of officers for the ensuing year, took place at Ward's Hall last Tuesday evening.

John Gray, of Boston, was elected President.

Rev. Theodore Parker, of Boston, will lecture before the Association on Monday night.

MECHANICS INSTITUTE.—ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The annual meeting of the Mechanics Institute, for the election of officers for the ensuing year, took place at Ward's Hall last Tuesday evening.

John Gray, of Boston, was elected President.

Rev. Theodore Parker, of Boston, will lecture before the Association on Monday night.

MECHANICS INSTITUTE.—ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The annual meeting of the Mechanics Institute, for the election of officers for the ensuing year, took place at Ward's Hall last Tuesday evening.

John Gray, of Boston, was elected President.

Rev. Theodore Parker, of Boston, will lecture before the Association on Monday night.

MECHANICS INSTITUTE.—ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The annual meeting of the Mechanics Institute, for the election of officers for the ensuing year, took place at Ward's Hall last Tuesday evening.

John Gray, of Boston, was elected President.

Rev. Theodore Parker, of Boston, will lecture before the Association on Monday night.

MECHANICS INSTITUTE.—ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The annual meeting of the Mechanics Institute, for the election of officers for the ensuing year, took place at Ward's Hall last Tuesday evening.

John Gray, of Boston, was elected President.

Rev. Theodore Parker, of Boston, will lecture before the Association on Monday night.

MECHANICS INSTITUTE.—ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The annual meeting of the Mechanics Institute, for the election of officers for the ensuing year, took place at Ward's Hall last Tuesday evening.

John Gray, of Boston, was elected President.

Rev. Theodore Parker, of Boston, will lecture before the Association on Monday night.

MECHANICS INSTITUTE.—ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The annual meeting of the Mechanics Institute, for the election of officers for the ensuing year, took place at Ward's Hall last Tuesday evening.

John Gray, of Boston, was elected President.

Rev. Theodore Parker, of Boston, will lecture before the Association on Monday night.

MECHANICS INSTITUTE.—ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The annual meeting of the Mechanics Institute, for the election of officers for the ensuing year, took place at Ward's Hall last Tuesday evening.

John Gray, of Boston, was elected President.

Rev. Theodore Parker, of Boston, will lecture before the Association on Monday night.

MECHANICS INSTITUTE.—ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The annual meeting of the Mechanics Institute, for the election of officers for the ensuing year, took place at Ward's Hall last Tuesday evening.

John Gray, of Boston, was elected President.

Rev. Theodore Parker, of Boston, will lecture before the Association on Monday night.

MECHANICS INSTITUTE.—ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The annual meeting of the Mechanics Institute, for the election of officers for the ensuing year, took place at Ward's Hall last Tuesday evening.

John Gray, of Boston, was elected President.

Rev. Theodore Parker, of Boston, will lecture before the Association on Monday night.

MECHANICS INSTITUTE.—ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The annual meeting of the Mechanics Institute, for the election of officers for the ensuing year, took place at Ward's Hall last Tuesday evening.

John Gray, of Boston, was elected President.

Rev. Theodore Parker, of Boston, will lecture before the Association on Monday night.

MECHANICS INSTITUTE.—ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The annual meeting of the Mechanics Institute, for the election of officers for the ensuing year, took place at Ward's Hall last Tuesday evening.

John Gray, of Boston, was elected President.

Rev. Theodore Parker, of Boston, will lecture before the Association on Monday night.

MECHANICS INSTITUTE.—ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The annual meeting of the Mechanics Institute, for the election of officers for the ensuing year, took place at Ward's Hall last Tuesday evening.

John Gray, of Boston, was elected President.

Rev. Theodore Parker, of Boston, will lecture before the Association on Monday night.

MECHANICS INSTITUTE.—ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The annual meeting of the Mechanics Institute, for the election of officers for the ensuing year, took place at Ward's Hall last Tuesday evening.

John Gray, of Boston, was elected President.

Rev. Theodore Parker, of Boston, will lecture before the Association on Monday night.

MECHANICS INSTITUTE.—ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The annual meeting of the Mechanics Institute, for the election of officers for the ensuing year, took place at Ward's Hall last Tuesday evening.

John Gray, of Boston, was elected President.

Rev. Theodore Parker, of Boston, will lecture before the Association on Monday night.

MECHANICS INSTITUTE.—ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The annual meeting of the Mechanics Institute, for the election of officers for the ensuing year, took place at Ward's Hall last Tuesday evening.</

